CITATION

EXCEEDING SIGNAL LEAKAGE LIMITS IN AERONAUTICAL BANDS

Adopted: October 25, 2011

Released: October 27, 2011

By the Resident Agent, Portland Resident Agent Office, Western Region, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is an official CITATION issued pursuant to Section 503(b)(5) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (“Act”),¹ to the Dublin House Motel for exceeding signal leakage limits in aeronautical frequency bands in violation of Section 76.605(a)(12) of the Commission’s Rules (“Rules”).²

2. The Dublin House Motel should take immediate steps to come into compliance and to avoid any recurrence of this misconduct. As explained below and as provided in the Communications Act, future violations of the Commission’s Rules in this regard may subject your company to substantial monetary penalties, seizure of equipment, and criminal sanctions.

II. BACKGROUND

3. Investigation by the Enforcement Bureau's Portland Office revealed that on August 19, 2011, the Dublin House Motel utilized a non-cable, multichannel video programming distributor (“MVPD”) system located at Hwy 101 and West 7th Street, Yachats, Oregon, which was emitting radio carrier signals above allowed limits on frequency bands utilized by aeronautical services. At the time of the inspection, the Portland agent conducted field strength measurements on the frequency 121.2625 MHz over three meters near a multiple dwelling unit box at the Dublin House Motel. The agent measured an emission of 170 microvolts at that location on August 19, 2011.

² 47 C.F.R. § 76.605(a)(12).

III. APPLICABLE LAW AND VIOLATIONS

4. The Commission's Rules provide that MVPDs, both cable and non-cable, that transmit carriers with certain characteristics within frequency bands of 108-137 MHz and 225-400 MHz must comply with specific technical requirements delineated in the Rules in order to avoid interference to other licensed operations, including aeronautical systems operating in these frequency ranges. In particular, Section 76.610 of the Rules provides that all MVPDs (cable and non-cable) transmitting carriers or other signal components carried at an average power level equal to or greater than 10^{-4} watts across a 25 kHz bandwidth in any 160 microsecond period, at any point in the cable distribution system in the frequency bands 108-137 and 225-400 MHz for any purpose must comply with, among others, Section 76.605(a)(12) of the Rules.³ The Dublin House Motel is required to comply with this Rule because the MVPD system at its property in Yachats, Oregon, transmits carriers at an average power level equal to or greater than 10^{-4} watts across a 25 kHz bandwidth in any 160 microsecond period and carries signals in the 108-137 MHz aeronautical band. Section 76.605(a)(12) of the Rules provides that "[a]n exception to the general provision requiring measurements to be made at subscriber terminals, and without regard to the type of signals carried by the cable television system, signal leakage from a cable television system shall be measured in accordance with the procedures outlined in § 76.609(h) and shall be limited as follows: Over 54 MHz up to and including 216 MHz – 20 micro-volts per meter, measured at 3 meters."⁴

5. An investigation by the Portland Office revealed that the Dublin House Motel, in Yachats, Oregon, utilized a non-cable, MVPD system which was emitting radio carrier signals above allowed limits on frequency bands utilized by aeronautical services. Specifically, the Portland agent conducted field strength measurements near an multiple dwelling unit box at the Dublin House Motel, but over three meters from the source, on the frequency 121.2625 MHz and measured an emission of 170 microvolts on August 19, 2011. The signal leakage emitted from the MVPD system utilized by the Dublin House Motel violated Section 76.605(a)(12) of the Rules.⁵
